The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being unpatentable by Lajoie et al. (US 5850218).

Claim 1, Lajoie discloses a broadcasting equipment for multiplexing downloadable contents data together with program information onto a main broadcast signal and broadcasting resultant data (Fig.1), characterized by comprising:

purchase limit time setting means for setting purchase limit time for the contents data (reads on set time in which user could buy a PPV program, i.e., "Buy until 8:15 PM; Fig. 28, el. 544; Col. 31, lines 1-32);

generating means for generating the program information including the purchase limit time (reads on display information that include time period in which user could purchase a PPV program; See Fig. 28, el. 544); and multiplexing means for repeatedly multiplexing the same contents data and the program information a plurality of times onto the main broadcast signals of broadcasting time of one program, thereby generating a transport stream (reads on the display message of el. 544 is inherently cyclically transmitted to users such PPV information/service along with updating information within that period of time; Col. 10, lines 25-55).

Claim 2, Lajoie further discloses characterized in that the purchase limit time setting means sets timing at which downloading of the contents data of a time immediately preceding the final time among the plurality of times can be instructed as the purchase limit time (see Fig. 28, el. 556 and 562 in which the PPV content is downloaded immediately preceding the final time of the count down so the receiver able to display the PPV content to user; Col. 31, lines 18-26) .

Claim 3, Lajoie further discloses wherein the contents data includes audio data encoded by the ATRAC system or audio data encoded by the MPEG-2 system (Col. 10, lines 29-40 and Col. 14, lines 1-40).

Claims 4, 5 are analyzed with respect to claim 1.

Claim 6, Lajoie discloses a receiving equipment for receiving a transport stream obtained by repeatedly multiplexing downloadable contents data together with program information onto a main broadcast signal a plurality of times (Fig. 3), characterized by comprising:

receiving means GUI with selected items, as shown on Fig. 28 and 30 for example in which the user use a RC to select)for receiving an instruction of downloading the contents data from the user;

capturing means (Fig. 3, el. 41,42) for capturing the contents from the transport stream in response to the download instruction received by the receiving means (reads on display PPV content on the screen to user; see Fig. 28; el. 562);

re-executing means for re-executing capture of when the capturing means fails to capture the contents (see Fig. 30, el. 580, 584, 586; Col. 31, lines 55-Col. 32, lines 7) ;

the contents extracting means (Fig. 3, el. 37-38) for extracting the program information corresponding to the contents data from the transport stream (display on the screen requested PPV program to user, as shown in Fig. 28 and 30); and stopping means for stopping the receiving process of the receiving means in accordance with purchase limit time included in the program information (the PPV program ended at 10:00 o'clock for a duration of 2hrs, as indicated by el. 544 in Fig. 28).

Claim 7, Lajoie further discloses that the contents data includes audio data encoded in the ATRAC system or audio data encoded in the MPE-2 system (Col. 10, lines 29-40 and Col. 14, lines 1-40).

Claims 8 and 9 are analyzed with respect to claim 6.
